Dated, the 10th April, 2018

Dear

ADACK)

Special Protection Group (SPG), which provides proximate security to the Prime Minister as well as former Prime Ministers and their immediate family members, is a fully deputationist organization and depends solely on CAPFs and State Police Units for its manpower requirements. Lately, the strength of officers from State Police organizations has shown a decline and it is our endeavour to increase their representation in SPG. The presence of officers from State Police organisations helps SPG in effective liaisoning and security arrangements during the visits of Prime Minister and other SPG protectees to the respective States. The State police units, in turn, benefit from such deputations as the officers on completion of their deputation tenure in SPG can be utilized to form a nucleus of trained VIP security Units in State Police.

2. Category of posts for which State Police officers can join SPG are enclosed at Annexure-I. The officers are selected for deputation to SPG on the basis of physical, psychological and medical tests, details of which are given at Annexure-II. The officers joining SPG get several allowances including Special Security Allowance, Uniform Allowance, accommodation in SPG Complex, preferential admission of their wards in Kendriya Vidyalaya, Dwarka, New Delhi etc. A list of such benefits is also given in Annexure-III.

Most of the officers coming to SPG get opportunity to visit several places within the country as also outside for providing security to the protectees. Such visits provide them opportunities to interact with a large cross section of government officials and also non-officials involved with the protectees' programmes and security.

4. You may like to ensure that adequate number of police officers from your State are encouraged/motivated to join SPG.

5. Apart from the officers in subordinate ranks, I also look forward to deputation of IPS officers from your State, particularly at the levels of SP and DIG. I propose to visit your State or depute a senior officer on a mutually convenient date to interact with the IPS officers who have completed 7 to 18 years of service and also some willing officers of other ranks to apprise them about the advantages of deputation to SPG.

6. Looking forward to cooperation from your State in this matter.

Yours sincerely,

(S.K.Sinha)

Shri Rajive Kumar
Chief Secretary,
Government of Uttar Pradesh.
